

MBA Accounting and Finance

Fully Online MBA

Description

The MBA in Accounting and Finance at the University of Professional Studies, Accra, develops professionals capable of managing complex financial, reporting, and strategic functions across private and public sectors. Combining rigorous academic study with practical application, the programme builds analytical, managerial, and ethical competence. It covers financial management, management accounting, corporate finance, taxation, and reporting, alongside advanced studies in economics, marketing, strategy, and organisational behaviour. Emphasising the integration of accounting and finance in decision-making, it equips students to drive sustainable growth. Modules in risk management, financial markets, and advanced auditing prepare them for global challenges. Through leadership training, ethical development, and exposure to industry executives via the Business Etiquette and Practitioners' Forum, students enhance their professional presence and networks. Research and project work foster evidence-based solutions to financial and managerial issues. Graduates emerge ready for senior roles in accounting firms, financial institutions, corporations, public agencies, and NGOs, with the technical mastery, strategic insight, and integrity to advance organisational and societal progress.
