

MBA Marketing

Fully Online MBA

Description

The MBA in Marketing at the University of Professional Studies, Accra, develops strategic, innovative, and ethically grounded leaders equipped for today's dynamic business landscape. It offers a solid grounding in core business disciplines, organisational behaviour, strategy, economics, finance, and accounting, complemented by studies in leadership, ethics, law, research, and information systems to build analytical and managerial competence. Specialist modules such as Advanced International Marketing Strategy, Advanced Consumer Behaviour, Integrated Marketing Communication, Services Marketing, Sales Management, Brand Management, Digital Marketing, Relationship Marketing, and Social Marketing prepare students to design and execute effective marketing strategies across global markets. The curriculum blends theory with practice through case studies, applied projects, and the Business Practitioners' Forum, where students engage with industry leaders. Emphasising professional development and research, the programme cultivates business etiquette, leadership ability, and independent inquiry. Graduates are ready for senior roles as marketing directors, brand managers, sales executives, digital strategists, and consultants in multinational, public, and entrepreneurial settings. Combining creativity, strategic insight, and ethical responsibility, the MBA in Marketing equips professionals to shape consumer engagement, seize market opportunities, and drive sustainable business growth.
